Amount of Levy Cut Is Certain When Next Congress Convenes.

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—"Coolidge economy" and the treatment accorded the democratic tax reduction program at the last session of congress came in for attack today from two democratic quarters.

Asserting that appropriations by the last congress were nearly four times as great as in 1916 under the Wilson administration, the democratic national committee, in a statement, asked:

"What about this Coolidge economy so industriously asserted and reasserted by overlings and echoed and reechoed by underlings?"

Chairman Oldfield, of the democratic national congressional committee declared in a statement that American consumers this year will pay nearly $1,000,000,000 more in living costs than they would have had the democratic tax revision plan been adopted by the last congress.

While it is only sound to expect appropriations to be no greater now than they were before the world war, the national committee statement added appropriations are still double what they were in 1916, after deducting appropriations for tax refunds, prohibition enforcement, cooperative road-building and forest reserve roads, items which appeared since the 1916 budget.

The committee asserted that the nine years which have elapsed since the committee would appear sufficient time to get back "near a state of normalcy."

"Coolidge economy is 'constructive and vicious,'" the statement concluded. "It requires budgetary ingenuity to 'construct' a two-fold and four-fold increase in appropriations as a 'constructive' policy."

Estimating a surplus this year of more than $500,000,000 from income tax payments, Chairman Oldfield said President Coolidge and republican "adversaries in the senate now favor a tax revision plan almost identical with the bill introduced by democratic members of the house ways and means committee. That bill, he added, would have reduced taxes $350,000,000, but was defeated by the republicans who claimed the surplus would not exceed $400,000,000 and held any cut would be unsafe.

"The corporation tax reduction proposed by the democrats," he continued, "would have been of great relief to the smaller corporations, and would have saved the consuming public hundreds of millions of dollars, for 70 per cent of the corporation tax is passed on and pyramided, so that if the rates had been lowered as we proposed, effective on taxes now being paid, the total benefit to all of the

Caused Dismissal of Georgia Men, To Be Published at Lavonia.

Athens, Ga., March 20.—(Special.) A statement declaring the purpose of the "Iconoclast," which appeared unofficially at the University of Georgia recently, was constructive in nature and issued in an effort to change the tax system in the state so that the university might secure additional appropriations, was made tonight by five students expelled yesterday for connection with its publication.

A petition was circulated during the day asking Chancellor Snelling to reconsider his expulsion of the five students and allow them to be reinstated, while another petition invited the chancellor's action.

Ben Cheek, senior editor of the paper, was still at the institution today, and said he would probably be here "several more days."

Visited by Masked Men.
He confirmed a report from Lavonia that the paper would continue publication there.

The statement declared on the night following appearance of the "Iconoclast" that 10 masked men entered the rooms of the paper's staff and escorted them to "the graveyard."

It failed to say what took place there but criticized the university heads for not investigating the incident.

A. J. Mathews, who admitted tonight that he and Cheek were visited by the hooded band, said he was in his room at one of the dormitories when about ten men with towels tied around their heads appeared and took him bodily to the first floor, where another band held Cheek.

When the two editors assented to accompany the group they themselves were blindfolded and all walked to the edge of the Athens cemetery, a distance of about one-half mile, Mathews said. Here a general discussion concerning the Iconoclast was entered into by the band, which, in effect, was, according to Mathews, that the policies of the paper "would interfere with their college activities and would affect their scholarships," members of the band said.

Mathews said the "meeting" broke up when he and Cheek would consent to "have been of great relief to the smaller corporations, and would have saved the consuming public hundreds of millions of dollars, for 70 per cent of the corporation tax is passed on and pyramided, so that if the rates had been lowered as we proposed, effective on taxes now being paid, the total benefit to all of the

BRITAIN SUPPORTS ITALY IN ALBANIA

Alleged Bellicose Intentions of Jugo-Slavia Cause Mussolini Anxiety.

Rome, March 20.—(AP)—The fascist press today declares that England has joined hands with Italy in protesting vigorously to the Jugo-Slavian government against the alleged bellicose intentions of Belgrade toward Albania. At the same time, the papers say, the Italian representatives in London, Paris and Berlin and other large European countries presented to the various foreign offices an expression of Italy's anxiety over the situation on the Jugo-Slav-Albanian frontier.

While the newspapers, in publishing announcements of these diplomatic moves, continued to seethe with indignation over what they describe as the provocative attitude of Jugo-Slavia, the Italian foreign office maintained absolute silence, neither confirming nor denying the reports of diplomatic action.

Popolo Di Roma says that General Bozovic, Italian representative at Belgrade, presented an official note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs Perich, asserting that Italy could not remain neutral in the face of Jugo-Slavia's apparent aggressive intentions toward Albania.

JUGO-SLAVIA GIVEN WARNING BY ITALY.
Italy has informed Jugo-Slavia that this country would not remain neutral if warlike aggression on the part of Jugo-Slavia toward Albania continues. It would, therefore, view interference in Albanian affairs as an unfriendly act.

Italian diplomatic action, pointing out that Jugo-Slavia was arming herself, was not in the nature of a formal note but was taken by General Bozovic, Italian minister at Belgrade, with a representative of the Jugo-Slavian foreign service.

RADIO COMMISSION ASKS PUBLIC AID

Series of Hearings Will Begin March 29 for Consideration of Public's Suggestions.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Washington, March 21.—Radio listeners throughout the country who will be unable to attend the public hearings scheduled by the newly-created federal radio commission in Washington from March 29 through April 1, were invited today by Commissioner O. H. Caldwell to participate by mail.

"In an effort to adopt policies concerning the broadcasting situation, which, when put into effect, will render the most valuable service to the listening public, the commission cordially welcomes the views of all persons who would like to lay their ideas before it," declared Mr. Caldwell in an announcement made today.

"That is the central idea back of the series of public hearings," continued the commissioner's announcement, "but we also know that many persons entertaining sound views and strong convictions, with helpful suggestions, have not the time nor the money to make the trip to Washington so as to give the commission the benefit of their experience."

In order to facilitate matters we suggest that those who mail their proposals confine themselves to the main topics to be discussed at the public hearing. They are: Widening the broadcasting band; limitation of power; reducing frequency; separation; simultaneous broadcasting with the same frequency; time division; consolidation of broadcasting service, and limiting number of stations.

"We wish to urge our friends," concludes the announcement, "to confine their remarks to the topics proposed and not to present at this time individual claims or complaints, which will be considered in due course."

COUPLE IN CHICAGO
END THEIR LIVES
AS BOY IS KILLED

Police Believe Child Slain Accidentally While Being Punished for Alleged Theft.

Chicago, March 20.—(AP)—The partly burned body of a 12-year-old boy found yesterday in a pile of ashes along the banks of the Des Plaines river in Forest Park, a suburb, was identified today shortly after the bodies of his mother and step-father had been found in their home, dead from poisoning.

Police believe that the mother and step-father killed the boy accidentally while punishing him and that they committed suicide after attempting to dispose of the boy's body.

The boy was identified as Robert McKenzie. His mother was Mrs. Helen McEwen, 35, widow of Robert McKenzie, of Kansas City. Four months ago she became the bride of Arthur McEwen, 40, the boy's step-father and employee of the American Can company.

Boy Is Identified.
Identification of the boy was made by Miss Cora McEwen, his aunt, who a short time before had found the bodies of her sister-in-law and brother. McEwen and his wife had been dead for about two days and the boy had been dead four or five days.

The sister went to her brother's home after receiving a letter written by him and mailed last Wednesday in which he expressed a fear that both he and his wife might soon meet death and which also said Robert, the boy, had been sent to Pittsburgh two weeks ago because he had stolen $20 from his mother's purse. Referring to his wife, McEwen wrote:

"She is very much discouraged. She told me that some day she would commit it all for herself, Bob, and me. I hope she makes good her threat, forgive us dearest sis, and all of you. I hope she and her son will be together in heaven. I want Helen to be cremated, I want Helen to be cremated, I want Helen to be cremated."

The apartment was in perfect order, which led police to believe that the two had taken poison.

Disposal of Boy.
Mrs. McEwen's parents lived in Pittsburgh, and at first it was thought that her son was there until someone recalled that the initial "M" was found on a belt buckle of the boy whose body had been discovered yesterday.

On Tuesday night of the county highway police, said he was satisfied that McEwen and his wife had fled in flight from the boy's body, which had been found in the street, and then, for some reason, decided to dispose of the body by burning it.

The boy's skull was fractured and his collarbone broken. Neighbors said they had not seen the boy for almost two weeks.

An inquest probably will be held tomorrow over the three bodies and triple funeral services are planned for Tuesday.

INTEREST GROWS IN HOME EXHIBIT

Work Will Be Rushed From Now Until Opening Date on Furnishing and Decorating.

Interest of people of Atlanta in the forthcoming fourth annual "Home Beautiful" exhibit, sponsored by The Constitution, was stimulated Sunday by announcement of the list of merchants who will participate and by the addition of another unit to the show.

The new $60,000 mansion which has been entered by Haynes Manor marks a high point for the exhibit. This is the most expensive residence yet offered to the public for inspection and proof that it will be decorated and furnished in the most up-to-date and latest style is furnished by the fact that M. Rich & Brothers company will have complete charge, and will use their own interior decorating department.

Another beautiful unit in the exhibition, 10 Livingston re. l. in Avondale Estates, was in charge of the decorating department of J. M. High company. The other four units in the show will be under supervision of Mrs. H. H. Thomas, formerly of Richmond, Mo., of Atlanta, who is recognized as a national authority on home decorating.

Announcement was made Sunday that work on the two homes at Avondale Estates being built especially for this exhibition is progressing rapidly and that they will be finished in plenty of time to give the decorators and fur-

DAVISON-PAXON
COMPANY OPENS
TO PUBLIC TODAY

Ceremonies at 9 O'Clock
This Morning Will Mark
Great Department
Store's Opening.

Marking the formal entry of a new and important enterprise to the commercial life of Atlanta, the magnificent new department store of the Davison-Paxon company, affiliated with R. H. Macy & Company of New York, this morning at 9 o'clock will throw open its doors to the public.

The new building will be dedicated to the service of the shopping public of Atlanta and the surrounding section with impressive ceremonies to be attended by a group of New York and Atlanta dignitaries. The exercises will be featured by the raising of four standards while a half dozen buglers sound the call to colors. The flags will be those of the United States, Georgia, the city of Atlanta and the Davison-Paxon company.

Attending these exercises in addition to prominent Atlanta citizens will be Jesse Lander Straus, president of the Macy company; Mrs. Straus and Herbert Straus, vice president of the Macy organization, who came here from New York late last week to be present at the event; Beaumont Davison, president of the Davison-Paxon company; Raymond E. Kline, vice president of Macy's and executive manager of the Atlanta store; Colonel F. J. Paxon, treasurer of Davison-Paxon company, and others.

The new building at Peachtree and Ellis streets is seven stories high and contains more than 400,000 square feet of floor space, making it one of the largest department stores in the country. It is magnificently equipped throughout, and a fresh and attractive stock of merchandise will be offered the public in every one of the many departments at the opening Monday.

Following the opening ceremonies this morning, the Davison-Paxon company will entertain the Georgia people at a big banquet tonight at the Biltmore hotel, at which the two Straus brothers, members of a family which lived in Georgia a number of years and which now is internationally famous in mercantile circles—will be guests of honor. Only a few executives of the Davison-Paxon store will be present at this event, the guest list being composed almost entirely of Atlanta and Georgia newspaper leaders.

On Tuesday night the store will be taken by motor to Talbotton, which was the old Straus home before the civil war, and will be honored at noon Thursday at New York City, where the Georgia city. Later they will proceed to Columbus, where an exhibition of tank maneuvers at Fort Benning and a banquet Tuesday night, is scheduled.

Returning to Atlanta Wednesday, the Straus brothers will return Thursday to New York City, where the third of the brothers, is now in Europe.

WILSON CAPTURED ON SPARTA ROAD

Fulton Convict, Serving
Life Term in Newsome Slaying, Returned to Prison and Shackled.

Milledgeville, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—After a little more than 24 hours of freedom, Roy Wilson, 24, serving a life sentence from Fulton county in connection with the slaying of a convict guard, was back in a cell at the state prison this afternoon.

Wilson escaped about 10 o'clock Saturday night from Sparta, having traveled about 75 miles.

Immediately after the escape of Wilson became known, the officers of the Georgia state prison followed his trail with bloodhounds and the dogs and officers kept up the chase all Saturday night and Sunday morning until Wilson was retaken on a highway near Sparta.

Realizing that they were in hot pursuit of the fugitive, the officers crossed a bridge and after proceeding several miles lost his trail and decided to double back and inspect the bridge.

As Captain Dunaway and his men approached the bridge, they met Wilson in the road, he having hidden under the bridge when they first passed over it, and thinking himself safe, took to the road. He was immediately returned to the prison here and shackled.

Wilson was in a field at work Sat-

Justice to Mexico Urged in Address By Senator Borah

STUDENT KILLED IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Atlanta Dental Student
Run Over by Automobile After Falling From Motorcycle.

C. G. Foushee, 27, dental student, of 108 Vassar street, died Sunday night at 7:45 o'clock at Grady hospital as a result of injuries received when the motorcycle he was riding collided with another and was then run over by an automobile. The accident occurred on the Atlanta-Macon highway two miles north of Jester's mill, near Jonesboro, at about 5 o'clock.

Foushee, together with about 20 other members of an Atlanta Motorcycle club, was returning from a pleasure trip to Macon when the crash occurred. Foushee is said to have attempted to pass the machine ridden by Guy St.inger, of 666 Vernon avenue, who was leading the cavalcade, when the front wheel of his motorcycle struck the rear wheel of Stinger's machine. Foushee was thrown into the middle of the road and before he could rise an automobile coming from the direction of Atlanta, said to have been driven by Dr. H. M. S. Adams, an Atlanta physician, ran over him and his machine and then crashed into a ditch at the side of the road.

Other members of the motorcycle party declared that the youth fell in front of the approaching machine so suddenly that the driver was unable to swerve aside and avoid striking him. Witnesses declared that Dr. Adams was seen to throw on his brakes and apparently made every effort possible to stop.

Foushee was brought to Atlanta by a party of passing motorists and carried to Grady hospital where he died within an hour of his arrival. Physicians said he suffered a fractured skull and a broken shoulder blade.

Foushee was married and had an infant child. His widow, who arrived at the hospital shortly after the injured man was brought in, collapsed when he died and is in the care of physicians.

Before coming to Atlanta to study dentistry at the Southern Dental college, where he was a sophomore, Foushee lived at Jonesboro, N. C. The body is being held at H. M. Patterson and Sons' funeral parlors pending instructions regarding funeral arrangements from Foushee's relatives.

Call Officers J. R. Heard and A. C. Sinyard, who investigated the accident, reported, after interviewing witnesses, that no charges would be filed against the driver of the death car.

Dr. Adams later declared that his car did not run over Foushee, but that the man's skull was fractured by striking the paving. Dr. Adams said he swerved to one side and ran into the ditch to avoid striking the man, and that a part of the wrecked motorcycle hit him in the face, while he seated behind the automobile wheel.

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Albert Snyder, 45, art editor of the magazine Motor Boating, was found strangled to death with picture wire at his home in Queens Village today. His wife, Ruth, was bound and gagged but was unhurt. The crime was discovered by their nine-year-old daughter, Loraine, who heard her mother faintly thumping on the door of the little girl's bedroom.

Awakened by a faint tapping at her bedroom door by her mother, the child found her father lying dead on his bed with the wire tightly joined around his throat. Marks on the head indicated he had suffered a succession of blows. Snyder's own pistol was found loaded under his pillow.

Police said they were certain the

New Haven, Conn., March 20.—(United News).—A square deal for Mexico was urged by Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, in an address here.

"The first step toward justice is to stop making false and unfair statements about Mexico," he said, answering state department charges of bolshevik activity in Mexico.

"For weeks propaganda has been put out that Mexico and Central America have come under the domination of communistic teaching and that this is the cause of trouble in that part of the world. I venture to assert that the third international, that Russia, have got one thing to do with Mexico or with Mexican policies. No country on this western continent has been more outspoken or vigilant against communism than Mexico. Communism and Russian influence have no more to do with either the origin or execution of our policies than they have to do with the policies of our own government. The only communists who ever made any trouble with Mexico went there from the United States and were sent back by the Mexican government."

Borah said the United States must oppose confiscation of vested property rights but he believes Mexico is trying to solve her land problem in harmony with American rights.

"No one will deny the right of

LOCAL PALESTINE APPEAL LAUNCHED

Sir Wyndham Deedes,
Former British Executive in Palestine, Addresses Jewish Meeting.

Sir Wyndham Deedes, of Oxford, England, for many years an executive of the English mandatory government in Palestine, was principal speaker Friday night at a mass meeting of Atlanta Jews at the Forsyth theater.

The meeting opened a week's intensive campaign for funds launched by various Jewish societies of the city in the interest of the United Palestine Appeal, a national organization aiding in rehabilitation of the Holy Land as a national Jewish home.

The speaker gave assurance that the British government is in favor of the movement. Interpreting the aims of the United Palestine Appeal, he said they were twofold: First, to develop agricultural and industrial resources of the country so that Jews of Austria, Russia, Germany and especially Poland, might have opportunity to better their present condition by migrating to Palestine; second, to show the world that the Jewish people can, as a community, live a normal, successful community life.

Mrs. Archibald Silverman, of Providence, R. I., national vice president of Hadassah, the women's division of the Zionist organization in charge of sanitation and hospital work in Palestine, also addressed the meeting, giving an outline of the rehabilitation work already accomplished from a first-hand experience of several years in the Near East.

J. J. Parades is chairman of the local campaign, while Dr. Len J. Frachtenberg, formerly of Philadelphia, is southeastern director of the United Palestine Appeal. Working teams have been organized and a thorough canvass of the city will be made during the coming week for Atlanta's part of the national campaign, it was announced.

GENERAL STRIKE BEGUN BY CHINESE

Foreign Settlement Will Be Greatly Handicapped and Industry Will Be Crippled.

BY FRANCIS MISSELWITZ.
Shanghai, March 21.—(United News).—(Monday).—Shanghai was captured this morning by the armies of south China.

No opposition was advanced by the defending isolated detachments of northern soldiers, who were hastily ordered to evacuate the city by their alarmed officers.

The capture has been considered imminent for the past week, and was realized to be certain this morning, when the southerners advanced through four provinces, bringing them to the outskirts of the city of Lung-wha.

General Strike Called.
Following the capture of the native city of Shanghai by the Cantonese, a general strike has been declared in the foreign settlement by workers in all industries.

The general strike has crystallized immediately following news of the fall of the city, as a result of propaganda spread through the settlement during the hours immediately preceding arrival of the Cantonese.

The strike will seriously affect foreign factories and hamper general industry and transportation in the settlement.

Visits Battle Front.
I have just returned from the battle front, which at that time was ten miles from the international settlement.

With J. B. Powell, correspondent for The Chicago Tribune, I viewed what appears to be the last defense of the city, a dispirited rabble soldiery which is offering one of the most un-military examples of fighting in modern times.

Booming guns to the south broke the Sunday calm in Shanghai throughout the day. We motored to the battle front shortly after noon, and only eight or nine miles outside the city met the first groups of straggling northern soldiers. Here was a picture of disorder. Mingling with refugees from the cities which have fallen within the last few days the Shanghai soldiers poured over roads and fields. Excited civilians, pushing carts of household goods, were pressing toward Shanghai, fleeing for their lives.

"LAME DUCKS" HIT IN PLAN PROPOSED BY AYRES, KANSAS

Washington, March 20.—(AP).—Elimination of so-called "lame-duck" sessions of congress was advocated in a statement today by Representative Ayres, democrat, Kansas.

Pointing out that the time limit now placed upon the short sessions enabled successful filibusters to be conducted, he urged a constitutional amendment to remedy the situation, and predicted that the democratic party, if unable to obtain action at the next session, would carry the issue into the next presidential campaign.

He would amend the Norris-Whire resolution proposing a constitutional amendment so as to prohibit the appointment of representatives defeated for reelection to any federal office until their repudiation by the voters had been offset by their subsequent choice for an elective office.

WIDOW HYSTERICAL WHEN QUESTIONED

Macon, Ga., March 20.—(A)—The sheriff's office announced tonight that Mrs. Eva Tanner was taken out of solitary confinement late tonight and questioned about events in connection with her ride with E. B. Hogan, cotton broker, Wednesday, during which he was shot to death. Mrs. Tanner, according to the officers, stated when she was placed under arrest, that she had never gone with but two men. The officers claim to have obtained a number of other names of men with whom she had been seen in addition to the two furnished by her, who also will be questioned. Sheriff's deputies talked only a short while with Mrs. Tanner tonight, announcing after they left her, that she was hysterical, and too ill to be questioned. They said that they would continue the inquiry tomorrow. Deputies investigating the murder have found the automobile that was stolen the night of the crime from W. C. Dorsey, of Loraine. The car had been abandoned at Loraine. No arrests have been made, but the deputies indicated that they were hot on the trail of the occupants of this car. Three stolen cars may have been used by men figuring in the killing. The first one was one that was brought here presumably from Florida, and found abandoned. The second was a sedan, stolen from A. B. Williamson, from in front of the First Baptist church here. The Williamson car has been identified as the one used by the slayers. This car was abandoned at the first road turning off from the pavement of the Dixie highway, on the Macon-Atlanta road, after leaving the scene of the murder.

Raided Garage.
About a half-mile beyond the same gang is believed to have broken into Dorsey's garage, stealing his car and making a getaway. Mrs. Eva Tanner, pretty widow, was brought back from Washington county, Saturday, by three deputies and placed in the Bibb county jail on a warrant charging murder. Conflicting statements by Mrs. Tanner and other evidence which the officers claim to have obtained, brought about the arrest of Mrs. Tanner, the sheriff's office announced. They quoted Mrs. Tanner as saying that Hogan was looking directly into the face of the hold-up man when the latter fired his pistol. In another breath they quoted her as saying that she leaped from the car when the hold-up man demanded money and ran, screaming for help, being twenty feet or more at the rear of the Hogan automobile when the shot was fired. Hogan was shot in the forehead, between the eyes. His body fell, face downward in the front seat of the automobile and no one lifted the body to ascertain where the bullet took effect until the undertaker took charge of the body at the direction of the coroner. The right door of the automobile was closed. Deputies state that if Mrs. Tanner had been in such haste to leave the automobile she would not have stopped to close the door. Mrs. Tanner first met Hogan about two years ago, it develops, though she says he was an acquaintance and friend of her second husband, Archie Tanner.

She had acquired some money from her husband's life insurance and from his realty holdings, and ventured into the sugar market, through Hogan's firm. It was just as the sugar market broke, and her losses in that venture are said to have run to the extent of $200 a day until she put on a "stop" and unloaded her holdings. But that loss, close friends here told the deputies, does not furnish a motive for the crime.

people would have been close to a billion dollars.

"These facts should not be forgotten by the public, now that republican leaders are so enthusiastically for the tax relief we proposed and they so stubbornly and successfully opposed."

"The republicans having come around to the democratic position on tax reform, I hope that by next December they will also be willing to join us in a readjustment of the tariff by reducing some of the present exorbitant duties on necessities of life and thus further contribute to a reduction in the cost of living and at the same time furnish a large measure of farm relief, which the Coolidge administration has also denied."

BATTLE ASSURED OVER TAX SLASH

Washington, March 20.—Republicans and democrats will be at odds over the amount of tax reduction in the next session of congress.

President Coolidge, on the advice of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, intends to defer until next fall, a decision on the amount by which taxes may safely be reduced.

As matters now stand, it is likely that Secretary Mellon will advise against any cut in excess of $300,000,000, and he may seek to hold the total to $250,000,000 or less. President Coolidge will be governed by Mr. Mellon's advice in his recommendations to congress.

Democrats Urge Increase.
The democrats will take sharp issue with the administration on the amount of tax reduction. They will demand a cut of at least $400,000,000 and probably $500,000,000.

The democrats will be fortified in their demand by evidence showing that in each revision in the past Mr. Mellon has warned against a reduction of more than $300,000,000 and later surmises have indicated that a $500,000,000 cut could have been made without incurring a deficit.

It is now regarded as a certainty, that, barring an unexpected business depression, the surplus for the fiscal year will be at least $400,000,000, and is more likely to be as much as $500,000,000.

President Coolidge, in transmitting the annual budget to congress last December estimated that the surplus for the current fiscal year of 1927 would be $383,000,000 and for the fiscal year 1928, about $200,000,000. It is now conceded by the treasury that the surplus for the fiscal year, 1927, will be considerably in excess of $500,000,000 and the great expectation is that it will run to from $600,000,000 to $700,000,000.

That income taxes alone will bring in at least $200,000,000 more during the fiscal year 1928 on the basis of the present law than figured in the budget bureau's estimate is admitted.

Secretary Mellon will oppose a tax cut which would absorb the entire surplus and on the basis of a possible margin of $400,000,000 in the fiscal year 1928 he will insist that the reduction be limited to $300,000,000 or less. The democrats will go on the theory that if the treasury concedes a prospective surplus of $400,000,000 it will really be $600,000,000 and a $500,000,000 tax cut can be made with safety.

crime was one of revenge. They questioned two women and five men and said they also would question guests at a party which the Snyders attended Saturday evening at a nearby home. Police said they learned there had been some bickering at the party, but were told it was of a harmless sort.

On regaining consciousness Mrs. Snyder told police that she and her husband returned to their home at 1:35 o'clock this morning. Her husband retired immediately.

"I thought I heard Lorraine stirring in her sleep," she said. "I went into her room but found her sleeping quietly. As I was returning to my own room I was seized by a big powerful man. I must have fainted. That was all I remembered until I awakened with my hands and feet tied and a gag in my mouth. I managed to loosen the rope around my wrist and got as far as Lorraine's door."

Mother Swoons.
Her mother swooned soon after she discovered her at the door. Lorraine said before swooning, Mrs. Snyder murmured:

"Two tall men, oh how my head aches!"

The house had been ransacked from roof to cellar. Mrs. Snyder told police that her clothing and jewelry had been taken. The missing articles were later discovered however, hidden in a bedroom.

On the dining room table a bottle of liquor from which one drink had been poured was found. Near it was a one dollar bill. Mrs. Snyder told police that neither the liquor or the money had been there when they retired.

Granted Pistol Permit.
A year ago Snyder was granted a permit to carry a pistol. On applying for it he said that two attempts had been made to enter his home. Police said that the crime probably was the work of more than one man as Snyder was a man of powerful physique who kept himself in perfect trim.

Although Mrs. Snyder said she had been unconscious for hours, police said that her wrists and ankles were unmarked. It was possible that the couple had been drugged by their assailants, police asserted.

The Way of It.
"I seed a feller driving along with about 12 children in a Ford," stated a citizen of the Fiddle Creek neighborhood.

"Good governor!" ejaculated his hearer. "How did he get 'em all in?"

"Aw, just stirred 'em around with a stick, I reckon, and then waited for 'em to settle."

TWELVE INJURED IN BUS ACCIDENT

Macon, Ga., March 20.—(A)—Twelve persons were reported injured in a wreck of a northbound bus in front of Collier's station, near Barnesville, about 8:45 o'clock tonight.

The bus, traveling on a fast schedule, was rounding a curve when it collided with a sedan car driven by R. G. Davis, of the Davis Construction company, of Atlanta. The Davis car was wrecked. The bus veered to the side and went straight down the 12 or 15 foot embankment, standing almost on end.

Twenty-seven persons in the big bus and the seats they occupied were jammed into the front of the bus and were rescued with difficulty. Fortunately, according to rescuers, fire did not break out.

Davis recently completed the contract for paving the stretch of highway where the accident occurred. He claimed to have been on the right side of the road. This was disputed by "Doc" Moore, driver of the bus. Sheriff Bittick, of Forsyth, made no arrests.

Doctors and ambulances were ordered to the scene from Griffin, because of the detour on the Macon end of the highway. Nearly all of the injured were taken to a hospital in Forsyth.

Some of the wreck victims were taken to Forsyth to the Alexander hospital. Some of them were taken in automobiles and some were taken in the southbound bus which came by after the accident occurred.

Miss Maggie Solomon, principal of Cornwall school, Atlanta, whose home is in Fitzpatrick, cuts about the face and legs.

Atlantans Injured.
W. S. Shackelford, 479 Holderness street, S. W., Atlanta, with the National Carbon company, badly injured and bruised about head and legs.

J. H. Sharpe, manager Purity Market, Atlanta, 65 Park street, cuts and bruises about head and legs.

Ward Dennis, of Macon; Shi Goodwin, of Forsyth; Albert C. Gable, of Macon, all Georgia Tech students, who spent the week-end here, were not hurt.

Ball Player Hurt.
Julian Jossey, motion picture man, of Cleveland, Ohio, who had been visiting his mother at Forsyth, was badly bruised. He was taken back to Forsyth, but was discharged after an examination at the hospital.

"Red" Hall, infielder for the Atlanta baseball club, face lacerated and leg cut. Brought to Macon after first aid treatment at the scene of the accident.

Hall had been spending the week-end here with his wife and was returning to Atlanta to resume training with the Atlanta Baseball club in the morning.

L. C. King, manager of the Collins company, 125 Whitehall street, Atlanta, suffered deep cuts over one eye and one ear but is not considered in serious condition. He was carried to the Piedmont sanitarium in Atlanta by W. H. Bradley, 1122 Ogletree street, Atlanta, who was accompanied by Miss Genevieve Garren, supervisor of the operating room at the Piedmont sanitarium, and who gave King first aid treatment.

urday morning when he was sent with a horse to bring a plow from the barn, which was in sight of the guard. Instead of stopping at the barn, Wilson climbed on to the animal's back and raced away.

Four miles from the scene pursuers found where he dismounted from the horse and took to the woods. Ten dogs took up his trail, with Superintendent B. H. Dunaway and officers from several counties aiding in the man hunt.

WILSON CONVICTED IN NEWSOME SLAYING.

Roy Wilson was serving a life sentence for complicity in the murder of Pat P. Newsome, Fulton county convict guard, who was shot and almost instantly killed on March 8, 1926, during a mutiny of convicts from the Fulton county north side camp.

The mutiny occurred as the convicts were returning to the camp near dusk after working on the roads throughout the day. As the result, R. L. Travis, Raymond Sisson and David Perkins, convicts, escaped but were captured two days later and returned to the county where they faced juries in Fulton superior court on the charge of murder. The quartet were given life sentences.

Wilson was injured when he fell from the truck in which the convicts were being carried back to the camp and in which the mutiny began. He suffered a broken leg and was unable to escape.

Pain is so often unnecessary

SUFFERED WITH PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDERS

After three days' home treatment got complete relief

Following a severe attack of rheumatic fever, a New York girl suffered for days with excruciating pain in her neck and shoulders.

"After trying everything else," she writes, "my mother persuaded me to let her apply Sloan's Liniment, and after three days I felt no further pain."

It is amazing what Sloan's will do to relieve pain. This is because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause of the trouble.

Apply gently without rubbing. Instantly it sends a healing tide of fresh, new blood to the place that hurts. In just a few minutes the pain stops. So pleasant and easy to use, too. Get a bottle today. All druggists—25 cents.—(adv.)

The Marriage Problem

BY WILL IRWIN

Author of "Youth Rides West," etc.

Instead of Condemning Divorce We Will Turn Our Attention to Disapproving of Fool Marriages—We Shall Have Not More Babies, But Better Ones—And Middle-Aged Women Will Be More and More Active in Social Work and Politics.

Marriage in 1926? It will be a great and obscure adventure. Before they go to the altar the man and the woman will spend some time from a month to a year usually in getting acquainted. Of course, they won't really get acquainted. The irresistible desire which drives them to marriage in the beginning will confuse their judgment and blind their observation. Seen through this rosy haze, the shortcomings of the beloved will appear as virtues or attractions.

After marriage there will follow four or five years during which the winds of reality will blow away the rosy haze. In this period they will get really acquainted. There will be times when of mornings the husband looks across his newspaper at his wife or the wife across her coffee pot at her husband and reflects: "Heavens, I must look at this same face every morning of my life!"

There will be quarrels. There will be tender reconciliations. And gradually the marriage will slip from these storm seas into calm waters or else into whirlpools. In the vast majority of cases, the insanely rapturous early stage will succeed a new understanding.

We call that condition nowadays "friendship" or "partnership." Neither of these words, nor any yet coined in English, quite describes it. But the serenely married will understand what I mean.

In the minority of cases the married couple, having got really acquainted, will find each other uncompanionable, irreconcilable strangers. And the marriage thereafter will follow one of two tragic courses; either the couple will go on until death does them part, yoked in misery, or they will separate. But the honest and open-minded commentator of 1926 will note nevertheless that marriage is, of all human adventures, the one which comes most often to successful issue.

No one ever devised artificially a state of being more degrading and destructive of character, than loveless, incompatible marriage. During the last century the civilized races of the world have been in process of admiring this fact to themselves. In spite of the theological sanctions, common sense has dictated that two people torn asunder by the fetters of their own characters should not be joined in law. In most of our own states and in certain other parts of the world divorce is easy enough as things stand.

However, we in common with the

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

The pointer for today is: When a small card is led and Dummy holds a face and one small card in that suit, Dummy's play depends upon the cards in the closed hand, and upon whether the contract is a Trump or No-Trump.

Three or more cards of the suit originally led, it is generally easy to decide which should be played; but when there are only two, and one is an honor, a problem is at present.

plays the card which produces the better mathematical chance for success. It is obvious that in determining which card should be played, the holding of the Closed Hand is the main factor. Suppose Dummy has King and Closed Hand Ace-Jack; in that case the King in Dummy would not be a problem because, by playing small from King and one, he would only take two tricks in the suit if the Queen were in the leader's hand, and the second lead of the suit was made from any other hand.

During the next two weeks these articles will cover a number of situations in which the King, Queen or Jack is held with one other card in the Dummy hand, and all illustrate what should be done in each case. The case that will be our special topic tomorrow is the holding of King-Jack (no small card of the suit) in Dummy with two or three small cards of the suit in the Closed Hand, a small card of the suit being the original lead; the question being whether in such case King or Jack should be played from Dummy.

SUPERIOR COURT TO OPEN TODAY

Lyons, Ga., March 20.—(P)—Special terms of superior court are scheduled to get under way in two counties this week in connection with a series of floggings and alleged masked band operations.

Toombs superior court has been called to convene here Tuesday to try six men, who were indicted following the flogging of Rev. J. T. Jones a year ago while Treutlen county superior court was to begin a special session at Soperton tomorrow to consider "all and any business" that may come before it.

Five men, including Sheriff Thigpen, of Treutlen county, have been arrested in connection with the flogging case. They were released under bond. Later, the sheriff and two others were rearrested for burning the sheriff's automobile shortly after the flogging occurred.

Investigators said the car had proved to be one of the chief clues. Meanwhile, citizens and officers of both Toombs and Treutlen have indignantly denied newspaper stories about "wholesale floggings and hooded band activities." The counties now are quiet and the citizens declare their law enforcement officers have the situation under control.

The six men who are to go on trial here Tuesday are Willie Wilkes, Willie McDilid, Mack New, L. S. Edfield, Tom Taylor, and Hugh Taylor. They are charged with different offenses varying from disturbing divine worship to assault and battery, in connection with the flogging of the Rev. Mr. Jones.

Rev. Jones, a resident of Appling county, was a visitor in South Thompson Baptist church, seven miles from here, when two masked men entered and escorted him to the entrance. They were joined there by two others, the minister said, and he was taken to a lonely spot on a country road and severely beaten.

Judge R. N. Hardeman, who is to preside, is expected to call a venire of 24 men for jury service Monday afternoon.

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER COLLISION WITH BICYCLIST

"C. F. Johnson was arrested Sunday afternoon by Patrolmen S. J. Hall and C. R. Faulkner at Forsyth and Peachtree streets following a collision between his sedan and a bicycle ridden by Roosevelt Thompson, negro.

The negro boy was only slightly injured, it was reported. Charges of reckless driving, possession of a defective automobile while under the influence of liquor were lodged against Johnson by police.

CRASHES INTO POST TO AVOID HITTING TWO CHILDREN

Swerving his car to the right just in time to avoid striking two small children, C. T. Ragdale, assistant probation officer, Sunday morning narrowly escaped injury when his automobile crashed into a telephone post at Forsyth and Whitehall streets, according to his report to police.

Mr. Ragdale said that two children ran in front of his car from behind a telephone pole. He saw them just in time to turn his automobile and avoid striking them. The car suffered minor damage from the impact with the post, it was stated.

CAVE PLAYHOUSE FALLS, SMOTHERING TWO LITTLE GIRLS

Water Valley, Miss., March 20.—(P)—Two little girls were smothered to death here today when a cave playhouse in which they were playing collapsed. Evelyn Hunter, 12, and Edna Earle Lott, 6, were the victims.

Evelyn was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter, and Edna Earle was the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Lott, of the First Baptist church.

The children had built a playhouse in a sand bank only a short distance from the Lott residence. The cave-in was the result of recent heavy rains, and crumbled in on the two occupants of the crude cave without warning.

Letters Indorse Movement For Sunday Motion Pictures

Approval of a movement launched by a group of prominent women of Atlanta to legalize Sunday movies was voiced in letters received during the past week by Mrs. M. D. Farnham, executive secretary of the Atlanta Sunday movie movement.

The letters received within the past few days by Mrs. Farnham in favor of the movement were from Mrs. J. H. Jones, of the Atlanta Baptist church, and Mrs. J. H. Jones, of the Atlanta Baptist church, and Mrs. J. H. Jones, of the Atlanta Baptist church.

Dear Mrs. Farnham: May I not express my hearty approval of your efforts for Sunday movies? I have given to our generation many added hours of time and pleasure, for which our archaic laws have made no provision for their useful employment. I am convinced that the future is given over to idleness at first, then mis-education, then crime. There is very good reason to believe that the future is given over to idleness at first, then mis-education, then crime.

Sunday entertainments are in line with the inevitable progress of our time, and the victory is won. The progressive religious thought of today will save the day for the people of today, and Sunday will be a day of thankfulness and praise.

Dear Mrs. Farnham: Permit me to congratulate you on your stand for the Sunday movie. I am a member of the Sunday movie movement, and I am proud to be a part of it. I am a member of the Sunday movie movement, and I am proud to be a part of it.

Dear Mrs. Farnham: I have just read of a movement to legalize Sunday movies. To say that this plan meets with the enthusiastic approval of the majority of Atlanta is putting it mildly. Such plans have been discussed by people for years, and the majority has been in favor of them. I am a member of the Sunday movie movement, and I am proud to be a part of it.

New Swanson Film Vivid Presentation of Old Thesis

BY RALPH T. JONES.

"Wealth, fame, love, and the greatest of these is love." That is the formula the creator of Gloria Swanson's latest screen vehicle went to for his—or her—story. Perhaps it was the director, Albert Parker, or perhaps some scenarioist whose name is unknown to fame. Anyway, it is a tried and true recipe and, as usual, provides a fascinating study in human emotions, human situations and human reactions.

Of course there is a touch, too, in the story, of the old-time melodrama, where the villain encompasses his villainy because he holds the mortgage on the old homestead—naturally, in this picture, it is a modernized version, but it is the old situation nevertheless. It was shown privately to a few newspapermen Sunday afternoon, prior to its offering this week at the Metropolitan.

The picture is called "The Loves of Sunya" and, in brief, shows the dream lives of the same girl, as they would be if she followed various courses when, as a young woman, she faces the hardest and most puzzling decision of her life.

The decision is whether she shall marry a young man she loves, or a wealthy man who wants to buy her as his wife—via the overture notes of her weak father—or whether she shall accept the career of an opera singer which possession of a magnificent voice opens before her.

Suffice to say that the two dream stories of her life as a singer and her life as the wife of Croesus are sufficiently calamitous to restore her to the arms of true love which, we are left to presume, works out as happily as the other two did miserably. For the new touch of restraint in the movies leaves something to the imagination.

Gloria Swanson, from the opening scenes of the prelude when she is an Egyptian maid of centuries ago, to the last shot, is as gloriously attractive and as accomplished an actress as her warmest admirers contend. She plays a remarkable series of divergent characters in strikingly convincing manner.

One outstanding feature of the picture, however, is the large number of faces, new to the screen, it introduces, giving the production a freshness and enhanced interest rarely found in the usual vehicles of the half dozen great stars.

Jan Keith, as the millionaire, is of course, an oldtimer. But John Boles, as the lover, is new and as handsome as a school girl's dream hero. Florella Fairbanks, a niece of the famous Douglas, adds a distinctive touch of exceptional effectiveness as the younger sister. Hugh Miller is the Yogi, a part he makes genuine when it might easily have become burlesque. Then there is Adrea de Segura, who used to be a Metropolitan singer, giving a splendid performance as the impresario. These are practically all new.

Older performers, who do fine work, include Robert Schable, John Milner, Anders Randolf, Ivan Lobedoff and Pauline Garon. Incidentally, some new and surprisingly effective camera work is seen in the picture.

It is well worth seeing and should draw more capacity houses to the Metropolitan this week.

NEWTON PREACHES AT SECOND BAPTIST

Louie D. Newton, editor of the Christian Index, in the absence of Dr. Carter Helm Jones, preached the morning sermon at the Second Baptist church, Dr. Jones is in Jacksonville conducting a series of meetings at the Riverside Baptist church. He is expected to return before next Sunday.

At the night services the Second Baptist congregation was addressed by the Rev. Broadus E. Jones. The regular afternoon service of the B. Y. P. U. was held at the church at 6:15 o'clock.

Familiarity breeds TRUST

CONTRARY to the old adage, familiarity with some things breeds trust. Advertised products, for instance. The trade-names and firm-names you see regularly in this paper, by reason of their very continuity, kindle familiarity first and then confidence. These are the names that leap to your lips in market-places.

FAMILIARITY of this sort is a thing to be cultivated. The more you know about an advertiser and his wares, the more you are able intelligently to invest the family outlay for the necessities of life. This truth is self-evident.

READ the advertisements in this paper. Read them as carefully as you would read something you had to sign your name to. They will save your shopping time and your shopping dollars. Go into the stores with your mind more than half made up as to what you want and what you will have to pay.

Familiarity with known goods breeds contempt for the unknown. Advertising begets familiarity

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Yancey Brothers Organize New Company at Albany

Yancey Brothers, heavy machinery dealers of 550-556 Whitehall street, since the first of the year, have made some important connections for new lines of contractors' equipment and road-building machinery, and some of the older lines that they have formerly handled have had some important additions made to them by the manufacturers.

One of these important changes is that they have closed a contract with the Buffalo-Springfield Roller company, of Springfield, Ohio, for distributing their entire line of steam and gasoline street and road rollers in the state of Georgia. They will handle this line as they have handled all previous lines; that is, carry a large stock of machines and give service from Atlanta. In doing this they can give contractors who purchase this type of equipment better service on Kelly-Springfield and Buffalo-Pitt rollers than they have ever received before, it is claimed by officials of the company.

Another important connection is that they have secured the Ingersoll Rand compressor account for Georgia, and all of their representatives will sell this well-known line. They have already placed in their warehouse a stock of Ingersoll-Rand air compressors and jack hammers, and are now in position to give immediate service to anyone desiring this class of equipment.

The Rex mixer and paver manufacturer has added a new machine to the line, which is a 10-S building mixer, the construction and engineering design of this machine is something new and far advanced over any previous design of concrete mixer on the market. Since this new addition to the Rex family, they have installed one at the Stone Tile company's plant on Williams Mill road, where anyone interested in a 10-S builder's concrete mixer can see it in operation.

March is one of the best months' business they have ever had, they say, having secured from the highway department of Georgia an order for fifteen "Caterpillar" tractors, and in addition to this, many orders from customers throughout the state.

They have recently organized a new company which is known as the Yancey Tractor company, with offices and warehouse on Albany, Ga., in charge of L. D. Yancey, where a complete stock of machines and spare parts will be carried as is carried by Yancey

Georgia Apple Growers Plan Blossom Festival

SOUTH OFFERS BRIGHT FUTURE FOR INDUSTRIES

Industrial investment in the south today is the safest and most profitable employment to be found anywhere, according to industrial department agents of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad.

"Enough capital has come to the south or has originated in this south, to make a good start in utilizing southern raw materials in southern states," says a statement just issued by the railroad. "But the industrial potentialities of the region due to the quantity and diversity of raw materials, the abundant and cheap production of food, the immense power resources of rivers and coal beds, and the abundance of cheap labor, are just beginning to be realized so that today there is a field in Georgia and the south for the investment of additional foreign capital from the north, from the east, from the west, in fact, everywhere, which is not elsewhere equalled at the present time."

"For many years the south sold raw materials in the north and bought manufactured articles from the north, and the tendency was to keep the south poor and industrially dependent and to enrich the north, but a big change has come about. The south now uses its raw materials in thousands of factories which have been built on its own soil."

Georgia apple growers will launch a movement in the near future to hold an apple blossom festival in north Georgia, according to C. R. Porter, Rome, Ga., business man and owner of large apple orchards at Cornelia, in Habersham county, and at Esom Hill, in Polk, and Haralson counties.

"The Georgia apple is by far the most delicious apple grown in any section of the nation," said Mr. Porter. "It will keep and bear shipping to all points of the nation. Wherever it has been exhibited, the Georgia apple takes a prize, in fact, took first prize at one of two national shows."

"But it should be better known outside of Georgia. One hears of the Georgia peach, and the Georgia watermelon, everywhere in the United States, but not enough of the Georgia apple. Like the peach festival, the apple blossom festival will serve to keep this excellent fruit more in the public eye."

The Porter Brothers' Farm corporation at Esom Hill, Ga., owns 10,000 acres of apple lands on Treat mountain. The Yonah Apple Orchards company at Cornelia, one of the largest and most successful orchards in Georgia, embracing 768 acres and 25,000 trees, also is controlled by Porter brothers. The Consolidated Apple Growers' Exchange, controlling the output of six packing houses, is located at Cornelia, and it is expected that the festival will be held in that vicinity.

World-Wide Market Open for American Made Products

The boundaries of American markets extend to the extremities of the earth, according to an announcement made public today by the department of commerce, listing inquiries from all over the world for the purchase of American products.

From Canada and Australia, many world countries are listed for the purchase of a varied assortment of our products, including agricultural implements, automobile accessories, fertilizers, naval stores, electric equipment, food stuffs, leather and manufacture, lumber and industrial machinery.

Detailed information on the many foreign marketing opportunities which have been reported to the department by American trade envoys stationed abroad is available to American firms and individuals upon application to any district or cooperative office of the foreign and domestic commerce centrally located throughout the United States.

Antique Furniture Shop Here Has Wonderful Collection

At 363 North Boulevard you will find a large new brick building. This is the new home of the Trinity Quality Shop, and it is probably one of the largest and finest furniture repair and antique shops in this country.

This large building was especially built for this firm and is so arranged that every department can function as a separate unit or the work from one department can be passed on to another and the job be completed under the one roof.

To make this more clear, if a customer just wants a fine upholstering job done the customer calls there and selects the grade of tapestry, or gives a phone call and a representative will call with samples, and give estimates of the work that is to be done.

But if any number of pieces were to be made, according to any design, the work would have to be made all new and taken to the same course as the large factories; then again, there is much repair and new work that must be done very quickly, and this firm is well prepared to do it quick.

Duplicate work.

This shop does much work for fire insurance adjustment departments. The expert workmen can replace or duplicate any piece of furniture made by looking at the original or drawing, or a picture of the same, and it makes no difference to them whether it was made in this country in 1923 or in some foreign country two or three hundred years ago, for if it is made out of wood they can duplicate it.

The Trinity Quality is equipped to repair quickly the furniture of all kinds and they have men who have had long experience in making of desks, tables, filing cases and other willwooden office appliances. Phone 5828 will insure prompt attention.

There is one crew of men here who are experts on reed, willow, cane and porch furniture, and they can do much to make this kind of furniture almost as good as new.

In the upholstering department they can please the most fastidious for they have a complete line of tapestries and other coverings and when they take an old piece or set of furniture in hand they return it to the owner almost like it was years ago.

In the antique department the Trinity has recently expanded and now are buying and reselling big quantities of old-time furniture.

They are making arrangements to buy old-style furniture of the kind they think they can resell and they will welcome letters and phone calls from those having furniture of this class to sell in Georgia or adjoining states.

People of refinement and taste who can appreciate the beautiful antique furniture would do well to see the wonderful display of rare and old pieces of nice furniture they have on hand at this time, and as they are easy to look at, they are a welcome sight to those from the Georgia Baptist hospital at Forrest avenue and Boulevard, and as the officials are nice, pleasant people, they extend a welcome to all to see them in their new home.

This organization is headed by men who have had long experience in the making and repairing of furniture of all kinds and with the aid of the very best equipment in their line, can repair or make new any piece of furniture that may be needed and are as follows:

R. Green, president; C. W. Freeman, vice president; M. J. Green, second vice president; W. F. Rice, secretary, and R. R. McNair, treasurer.

did and prompt road service. If you get into trouble phone 9042, and one of their fast road trucks, fully equipped, will come to your help.

CARS WILL LAST LONGER IF NEW GREASE IS USED

"It is a wonder that cars do not give more trouble than they do," states J. H. R. Meyers, "when you consider the heavy service required in a car that is driven much, or may be old and worn, and you consider the scant attention the owner often gives it, or the condition of the grease or oil used to lubricate the parts that become filled with grit and small hard steel filings and small chips."

For every car trouble, however, there arises an expert, and that expert can be found in J. H. R. Meyers at Jack's Service station, South Pryor and Goodwin streets, where Ridge avenue intersects. Mr. Meyers has had 17 years of automobile experience, and has come to the conviction that people could get several thousand miles more satisfactory run out of their cars if they would give more attention to the proper greasing of the gears and more often washout and renew with clean oil.

Mr. Meyers is perhaps the best equipped man around Atlanta to clean out grease cases and refill them with proper, long wearing, smooth running oils. If you think your car is not running as smoothly as it once did, it is probably because the dirty, gritty grease needs taking out and is interfering with the gears. Mr. Meyers, with his special apparatus, can clean any kind of a car in a few minutes and renew with fresh clean grease, put in just at the most vital part of your car and make it again run smooth.

In addition to handling the best grades of gas and oil, grease, tires, tubes and other accessories, Jack's Service station is noted for its speed.

NATIONAL BANKS' POWERS ENLARGED BY MCFADDEN ACT

M. R. Wellborn, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, has highly commended features of the new national banking bill, known as the McFadden act, which has become a law.

"Among other things, the new banking law enlarges the powers of national banks and places them more nearly on the same basis as the state banks in those states where branch banking is permitted by law," said Governor Wellborn. "National banks are allowed to establish branches within the corporate limits of the city in which the parent bank is located, provided that the population of the city be 25,000 or more."

"The McFadden act also gives the national banks to make loans for five years on improved real estate. Such loans may be made up to the amount equal to 25 per cent of the amount of capital stock of the national bank and 55 per cent of its unimpaired surplus or one-half of its savings deposits, at the election of the bank. It is estimated that three billions of dollars could be released from saving deposits in national banks."

"The McFadden act also gives the federal reserve system a perpetual charter, subject to the pleasure of Congress and the provision of the law, inasmuch as it removes any doubt as to the renewal of the federal reserve charter when it expires, in accordance with the terms of the federal reserve act, in 1935."

Starring Dulcie Jayne

By VIRGINIA TRACY.

INSTALLMENT XLIX.
HONORABLE INTENTIONS.
At the second ring of the doorbell, Cornelia called from the bathtub. "Won't you push the button, mother? I can't come." Then, indeed, having quickly pushed it, she went not only to the living room door but out into the hall, peering down through that meager illumination she was aware of a small figure running up. There was lifted toward her a pale and breathless face framed, beneath its dark cap, in flyaway fair hair. A low voice, richly hoarse, supplicated, "O, if you please, Mrs. Marsh, may I come in? O, is Cornelia gone yet? Is she here?"

So that Cornelia, hastening perplexedly into the living room as she tried her bathrobe, found rocking nervously beside the dining table that girl who was truly the child of her heart. And who now, rising as if to spring to her, stopped and, with outstretched hand, fending her off. "Cornelia, listen! I've got to tell you. I'm not going to Algeria! Nothing can make me!"

Stupefaction! Then Cornelia hazarded a fearful guess. "You don't mean—Benny?" "He isn't dead—Dulcie reassured her. "O, no, Benny's not dead! He was at the hospital last evening. But his collar bone's broken, and his wrist and three ribs, two of them twice. So he can't go to Algeria, naturally. Not right away. I thought, of course, they'd wait till he was well. But they found out last night production's slack in Supremacy's eastern studio, because two of their stars are sick, and their crack camera man can be ready to go tonight night getting breakfast. Even in Cornelia's eyes there was protest.

"It's no use," said Dulcie Jayne to this protest. "It's no use about Independence Pictures. I wanted them, too. O, yes, I wanted them. But I'm afraid to go over there with Lyman, Cornelia. I'm afraid!" "O, but, dear, of what? What could he possibly do to you?"

"The way he looks—papa feeling he's dead crazy to marry me, he could do anything. It's Lyman's having honorable intentions has made me so much trouble right along. A girl's fool who can't look out for herself in this business against a man who's got intentions that are dishonorable. I mean, of course, unless she likes him. Why, everybody'll look out for her—the first grip'll hit him in the head with a brace if she needs he should. But the minute he wants to marry her everybody feels different about it. No matter how rotten he is and no matter how she don't like him. Somehow they'll think he's the right thing for her and they'll keep on spreading marriage out underneath any like flypaper, thinking some day sure she'll get tired and drop. Everybody in Africa'd be against me, Cornelia."

Dulcie had made this long speech with an almost pious effort to be convincingly rational. But now hysteria rose darkly in her. "As if it would be human Lyman should want to marry me now! He wants to get even with me, that's sure; he wants to humiliate me and bring me down low. But, because he wanted to marry me once, he can keep 'em all thinking so. And papa'll be making opportunities for us to be together—trick opportunities, so I'll never know where I am. Because he's got no intelligence, papa hasn't. I made up my mind to that one night he hit me in the face. A man that'll hit a person in the face when they're eating off them there's nothing foolish you can count on he won't do. He, voice dried and broke. "O, Cornelia, I can't tell what it is I'm afraid of. I don't even know, really. But I'm afraid."

Besides, a desert is a place that's awfully exciting to the animal passions. Any film'll show you that: it's as if that's what people want there for. Why, if Lyman would act as rough house as he did just in a Jersey field on a desert I'd have to have Benny right with me day and night. The principals are going to stop in Biakara and I don't know if they have bathtubs long enough in those French hotels for Benny to sleep in; anyhow in that climate a bathroom might be too hot. But everybody says they've got lots of balconies and I thought he could sleep out on mine without papa's finding him; then I would have felt everything was all right. But now—now! If I knew anything about his mind, even if I had old Mary! With the collapse of complete propriety through failure to keep Benny in the house with some operation flared into wildness. "In doors or out, suppose Lyman begins grabbing at me and I lose my nerve and hit him in the head with some thing and kill him? If Henry's sick I might kill him! O, I don't hear a word from Henry! I don't know how he is! I'll be all alone in Africa!"

"Cornelia!" said a voice from the kitchen.

Mrs. Marsh stood there at the stove. She, too, was fushed and shaking. But she spoke with a dryness more desperate than tears. "Now, Cornelia, I know how you feel. But you can't do it. I'll be all alone in Africa."

"Why not?"

Cornelia had answered her mother's question with a voice low but stiff, strong stiff, implacable; the voice of a declaration of war. Its alienation staggered Mrs. Marsh to the soul, but did not crack her. She crossed the kitchen, shut the door, and returned to the stove. "Because you'll ruin us, my daughter, if you do."

Between these two women who, through gray and wasting centuries, had been all in all to each other a gulf had opened. By looking at her mother or at if she never saw before she contrived to raise a wall against any appeal, while it was her mother's one idea to reach across this wall with threats to all their years in common. "We have no money. And if you lose your position on Miss Jayne's account we won't be able to pay next month's rent. What should we do, Cornelia?"

"We'll have to do the best we can. I don't remember, mother, your thinking so much about whether or not I lost my position through associating with Dulcie when she was making a party for us and taking us to the theater."

MAKING MONEY ON WALL STREET

BY R. L. BARNUM.

New York, March 20.—For some people making money in the stock market is as easy as breathing. Such people have what Wall Street calls "stock market sense." They seem to know without depending on any outside help what stocks to buy and when to sell.

There are 1,100 members of the New York Stock Exchange. The daily average attendance on the floor is around 600. Of this 600, some 550 are on the floor to buy and sell stocks or customers of the firms which they are a member. The other 50 are known as floor traders. They buy and sell stocks only for their own account.

It would seem that a floor member of the stock exchange having no commissions to pay and having the advantage of standing around various active posts to watch the trend of buying or selling would find it comparatively easy to make money in the stock market. "Stock market sense" or the ability without outside help to know what stocks to buy and when to sell is as rare on the stock exchange floor, however, as elsewhere.

There is one member of the stock exchange who, without any outside help, has within the past few years amassed a very large fortune. He made his first big "killing" in Corn Products. Being a sociable, talkative fellow he told everybody on and off the floor who would listen to him to buy this stock and why. Recently, he has made a great deal of money first in Wall Street and then in Wheeling & Lake Erie.

Another illustration. A more remarkable illustration of "stock market sense" is found in the experience of a widow who is putting on the fat of the land out of her stock market profits. Spending much of her time in a small Pennsylvania town and without financial training or opportunities for getting information she has a much higher development of stock market sense than the floor trader in question.

What constitutes "stock market sense" is hard for even old-timers in Wall Street to define because it is made up of many characteristics. Those who have it display at times remarkable patience—built at other times acting quickly on snap judgment. They have mental machinery which permits them to buy on and off the floor and sell on strong spots. They cut losses short and let profits run. They never over-trade.

"Stock market sense" is like personality. For some reason or other you either have it or are without it. If you have it, you have no need for tips or inside information. If you are without it, there is nothing to do but to stick to a d-fashional plodding method.

For the average trader in the stock market tips or inside information are either ignored or misused. The average trader thinks this would not apply to him or her in case of a real tip or real inside information. Just the same, it does.

General Motors.

Thomas Cochran is a partner of J. P. Morgan & Co. The Morgan firm is closely identified with General Motors. On the last day of last July on sailing for Europe Cochran was widely quoted as saying that he had made a careful analysis of General Motors' earnings and that $35 would be earned for 1926 adding, "General Motors with earnings running at such a rate as this present price, and should sell 100 points higher." General Motors was then very active with the price that day 188-1/8. On the opening day of this week General Motors sold at 175. Including the 50 per cent stock dividend that came off of General Motors last autumn this is equivalent to 202, or an advance of 74 points within seven and one-half months of the time a partner in the Morgan firm was widely quoted as predicting an advance of 100 points in the stock.

A tip from a member of the Morgan firm on a Morgan stock should be considered a real tip and real inside information and an advance of 74 points within seven and one-half months is something stockmarketwise that does not happen very often. However, the average floor trader in or out of Wall Street who acted on the Cochran tip is about as hard a job as locating a needle in a haystack.

The average trader in the stock market is not gifted with what Wall Street calls "stock market sense." He is, however, looking for tips and inside information. The difference between a successful and unsuccessful trader is that after getting tips or inside information one checks up on the facts of the land out of her stock market profits. Spending much of her time in a small Pennsylvania town and without financial training or opportunities for getting information she has a much higher development of stock market sense than the floor trader in question.

There is no question but that the big outside American public has more money today than ever before and is using it to a greater extent than ever before for investments or speculation in the stock market. Before buying a stock it is to the trader himself to find out what the stock is selling in relation to the high and low price of other years; what the latest available earnings earned and paid; what dividends are likely to be paid. There is not a firm in Wall Street which is a member of the New York Stock Exchange that cannot promptly furnish such information regarding any listed stock.

From the investment viewpoint the buyer of a stock is after income return. To find the income return the price of a stock is divided into the annual dividend paid. The income return on an investment stock is regulated by the earning power of the stock and time money in the open market.

If the income return is below the rate on call money or ninety-day money, the price of the stock is either too high or else there are good reasons for believing that earnings warrant a higher dividend. If the income return is much larger than the open market rate on time or call money, it behooves the holder of the stock to find out whether the dividend being paid is likely to be continued. From the speculative viewpoint, traders who are successful in the stock market use the same careful methods as investors before buying.

Central Union Trust Company of New York, Registrar. The Chemical National Bank of New York, Transfer Agent.

Each certificate of preferred stock now offered will carry a detachable warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase, subject to the terms of the warrants, on or before April 1, 1932, common stock (without par value) of the company, in the ratio of one-half share of common stock for each share of preferred stock represented by such certificate, at the rate of $60 per share.

The company has agreed to make application to list this preferred stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

The following information is contained in a letter to us from Mr. Walter B. Lashar, President of the Company:

BUSINESS

American Chain Company, Inc. is the largest manufacturer of chain in the world. Directly and through subsidiary companies, it manufactures for widely varied uses practically every size and kind of chain, from small chain for the jewelry trade to large ships' anchor chain. The company likewise manufactures a considerable variety of related lines, including forgings, merchant bar iron, rods and wire, wire strand and rope, cable, steel and malleable castings, valves, harness and saddlery items, fence, and railroad and automobile specialties. Among its products are Weed tire chains, of which it is the sole manufacturer and distributor.

Since inception of the business in 1912, annual sales have increased from approximately $500,000 in the first year of business to approximately $26,500,000 in 1926. The company sells direct through its own sales organization to jobbers and large consumers throughout the United States. It also does a considerable export business.

In 1926 the company acquired 93% of the outstanding shares of capital stock of American Cable Company, Inc., the raw material requirements of which can largely be supplied by subsidiaries of American Chain Company, Inc. American Cable Company, Inc., manufactures an extensive line of strand, cable and wire-rope, and it supplied all of the wire and cables for the Philadelphia-Camden bridge, the longest suspension bridge in the world.

EARNINGS

Consolidated net earnings of American Chain Company, Inc. and subsidiary companies, before dividends, during the four years ended December 31, 1926, after all charges including interest and Federal income taxes, as certified by Messrs. F. W. Hilditch &amp; Co., accountants for the company, were as follows:

Year ended December 31	Year ended December 31
1923.....$3,097,420	1925.....$2,382,863
1924.....1,751,929	1926.....2,414,891

Earnings as above shown include the results of operations of American Cable Company, Inc. from the date of its acquisition, January 1, 1926.

Average annual net earnings for the four-year period, as shown above, were $2,411,776, or more than three times the maximum annual dividend requirement on preferred stock presently to be issued. After deducting from such average net earnings the annual dividend requirement on $11,000,000 par value of preferred stock, there remains $1,641,776, or more than $6.50 per share on 250,000 shares of common stock now outstanding.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds of this issue of $11,000,000 par value of preferred stock will be used for the redemption, at $30 per share, of the 8% Class "A" Stock of the company of the par value of $25 per share ($8,503,575 par value now outstanding in the hands of the public) and for other corporate purposes.

Statements herein are in no way to be construed as representations by us.

We offer this preferred stock, less amounts exchanged for outstanding Class "A" Stock of the company and/or subscribed for by holders of such Class "A" Stock, for delivery if, when and as issued and accepted by us, subject to the approval of legal proceedings by counsel. It is expected that delivery will be made about April 1, 1927, in the form of temporary stock certificates of the company or interim receipts of Dillon, Read &amp; Co.

Price $100 per share and accrued dividend.

The above is subject to a circular, containing further information, which may be obtained upon request.

Dillon, Read &amp; Co.

Hemphill, Noyes &amp; Co.

The above offering is confined to dealers and brokers in securities, National and State banks and trust companies functioning as such and not dealing in securities, insurance companies under the supervision of the insurance commissioner and corporations.

Juvenile Leader Tells of Unrest Among Children

Little Rock, Ark., March 20.—(AP)—If youth furnishes the bulk of modern-day criminal violations, it is also true that it strains at the leash in every phase of the new human activity "which began before the world war and is now approaching its climax," says Mrs. Katherine A. Gibson, head of the Arkansas state juvenile court.

Mrs. Gibson thinks it all "gets back" to adults rather than youth and she denies that young people are more wide awake now than they were a generation ago. Opportunity for expansion is greater and most of the old time timidity has vanished, she declares.

"Seeds of the proper values, of consideration for others may break apart for certain conventions, if planted during the first six years of the life of the child, will never entirely waste away," she asserts, declaring her belief that criminal influences are shaped in the early family life of the child.

Far from being dogmatic in her assertions, Mrs. Gibson takes into account the trend of the times, physical defects, and mental instability, concluding that the greatest weight in determining what the future will hold for youth lies in environment, heredity and psychological factors.

She also blames the increase in the number of laws that one may break, saying that prohibition and the automobile have manufactured crimes that did not exist a generation ago. "We live in a time of 'what ifs' and 'maybes,'" she declares. "We all break laws and I am morally certain that I shall break one myself on a certain boulevard leading to my home."

LINER LEVIATHAN OFFICIALS DENY COWBOY'S CHARGE

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Charges of Frederick Almy, wealthy Arizona cattleman, that liquor was sold on the liner said as the liner sailed for Europe.

David A. Burke, general manager of the United States line, said his investigation disclosed there was nothing in the charges and the ship sailed "with a clean bill of health."

Captain Hartley added his denial by saying the ship would be filled all the time if the Leviathan had a bar. "Wine's more," he said, "we would require two more ships the size of the Leviathan to take care of our American patrons."

The captain said he had received messages from all parts of America praising him for the position he took in announcing he would not have the baggage of passengers searched for liquor.

Almy's charges were made after he had paid, under protest, a fine of $625.80 as the result of the finding of 12 bottles of liquor, bearing a tag with his name on the ship early this week. He denied ownership.

The union station attendants thought Judge Landis was in the lobby one morning this week, but it was only another lawyer who looked like him, the spokesman said.

TREE FALL FATAL TO BULLOCK MAN

Statesboro, Ga., March 20.—(Special)—Dennis J. Lanier, a prominent Bulloch county farmer living about six miles north of this city, died about 1 o'clock today as a result of injuries sustained when he was struck by a falling tree Friday.

Lanier was having a large tree in his yard cut down and in an attempt to keep the tree from hitting the fence he himself was struck and fatally injured. His condition was not at first considered serious but this morning hemorrhages occurred and death followed.

He was about 70 years of age, was a native of Bulloch county and had lived here all his life. He was twice married and is survived by his widow and three daughters and three sons.

Liner Picks Up Balloon On High Sea

New York, March 20.—(AP)—The fabric remnants of a sausage-type balloon believed to have escaped from Langley field, Virginia, were brought into port today by the steamer Pastores. The fabric bore the marking K-545 and was picked up 70 miles off Cape Charles, Va.

Dispatches from Norfolk, Va., last night said that considerable excitement was caused in coast guard and naval circles when a radio message was received from the steamer Bohemian club telling of sighting a partly submerged balloon in approximately the same location.

At Langley field, Col. C. C. Culver, the field commander, said that in the balloon of the type had escaped during a series of experimental tests. It carried no passengers.

Captain C. R. Glenn, of the Pastores, said that when the balloon was sighted, passengers aboard the ship deserted their luncheon, rumors having spread that the vessel was heading toward a sea monster. Difficulty was experienced in getting the water-filled bag aboard and only part of it was salvaged, he said.

Swindle Is Laid To Brooklyn Men By Quitman Merchant

New Orleans, March 20.—(AP)—Abraham Eisenberg and Julius Fox, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., today were en route to Quitman, Ga., to face charges of swindling $65,000 from a merchant there.

The men were arrested here Thursday and identified yesterday by Benjamin Taylor, alleged victim of the swindle. The merchant said the men made a "business proposition" to him at Quitman last week to sell him a tray of diamonds, and wearing apparel and jewelry.

They were reported to have engaged in rifle fire against an unseen enemy. The Cantonese troops should reach the native quarter of Shanghai not later than Tuesday morning, according to the correspondent.

The "diamonds" turned out to be glass and the men had fled.

MARINES LAND TODAY IN FULL REGALIA

BY JOHN POWELL.

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Shanghai, March 20.—(Midnight.) Shanghai's defense forces were fully mobilized this afternoon, with the British troops occupying the trenches and radiating about the international settlement, as well as the volunteer units, numbering 1,800, stationed at strategic points in the interior of the city. The American marines stationed aboard the transport Chaumont and American sailors stationed on the gunboats anchored in Shanghai harbor are to land at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in full war regalia for the purpose of marching along the route through the settlement streets.

A near-panic in the densely settled business section of the French concession at noon today was caused when a large Chinese funeral procession passed. Owing to the immense crowds of Chinese, including thousands of refugees from the adjoining Chinese areas congregating in the streets, the French authorities, fearing trouble, mobilized the native forces, closed all the barricades to the settlement and stationed troops in the streets and at the intersections. The funeral parades finally were induced to disperse and order was restored without mishap.

Situations Is Grave.

The military situation in Shanghai and its environs is grave, according to General Phi Shu-Chen, who apparently does not know what to do. According to Kuomintang agents, this correspondent was informed this afternoon that the nationalist agents have been negotiating with General Pi for a peaceful surrender, but the general, realizing the nationalists' desire to avoid hostilities near Shanghai, named too high a price for surrender, demanding that the nationalists grant him the right to garrison troops at the three important towns of Wusih, Changchow and Chinkiang, north of Shanghai. The nationalists, realizing the impossibility of granting the demands, finally broke off the negotiations and informed General Pi that they were determined to oust him even though it is necessary to fight near the foreign settlements.

Owing to the nationalist occupation of the Shanghai-Nanking railway between Soochow and Changchow, it is now impossible for the northerners to escape, so they have concentrated at the Lungchow arsenal, adjoining the French concession and the railway station on the border of the north side of the international settlement. General Pi's troops number approximately 8,000 and constitute a serious problem since they are well armed.

It was rumored in foreign military circles tonight that if the Chinese did not reach a decision by tomorrow the possibility exists that the British army may take a hand in the situation to try to induce the northerners to lay down their arms.

VILLAGE OF LUNGOWA TAKEN BY CANTONESE

Shanghai, March 21.—(Monday.)—Cantonese troops have occupied the village of Lungowa, four miles from the French concession in Shanghai.

The capture of Lungowa, which has been Shantungese military headquarters for the Shanghai area of occupation, preceded the fall of Shanghai.

Another northern setback also took place in the capture of Changchow by the Cantonese, who thus have cut the Nanking-Shanghai railway, isolating the northern forces.

Veteran of 86 Kills Man, 66, Jealousy Seen

Leavenworth, Kas., March 20.—(AP)—"Botherin' the women folks in the kitchen and talkin' too much and too fast," caused Rufus H. Pierce, 86-year-old Civil War veteran, to fatally shoot Lincoln C. Ensley, 66-year-old Spanish-American war veteran, here last night.

The octogenarian told County Attorney Jesse Hall that his 70-year-old wife, whom he married three years ago, wanted to "get shot" of the kitchen visitor.

But, Mr. Hall, after taking statements from Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and the doctor, declared that the oldest daughter of the Pierses, arrived at the theory, he said, that the homicide may have grown out of Pierce's jealousy of younger man's conversational ability.

Ensley's body was found on the porch at the door of a room he had occupied at the hotel for the last two months, a shot from a 25 caliber automatic pistol having cut an artery in the left groin. The shooting occurred when Ensley reappeared at the house despite Pierce's warning to stay away and "leave the women folks alone."

Ensley had been given a forced furlough some time ago from the soldiers home at Lansing, near here, for getting drunk, it was learned. He had rented a room from the Pierses.

SHANGHAI FALLS BEFORE CANTONESE

from the warfare which had been brought to their doors.

Approximately ten miles from Shanghai, near Mingting, we were surprised to find ourselves at the hot front. The northerners' line stretched out on either side of the road and a considerable force was guarding a small bridge.

Brisk rifle firing could be heard a quarter of a mile away where the nationalists appeared to be gaining.

Ordered to Return. Excited soldiers surrounded our car, gesticulating and ordering us to retreat. They pointed to the gunfire on all sides of us and to the soldiers crouching in ditches, in rice fields and near farm houses.

We saw no wounded northern soldiers, but the Chinese defenders appeared to be totally lacking in discipline or in hope of successful battle against the invading horde. We were not molested by the Chinese lines but were urged to return to Shanghai immediately on peril of being hit by stray bullets.

French soldiers guard the concession gates which are locked and barred. The British troops are standing by, determined to prevent invasion of the settlement where tension is high.

Arrival of the Cantonese at Shanghai's gates followed steady advances through the Chinese province last week. Following capitulation of Hangchow more than a week ago the towns of Ningpo and Hsiching fell to the Cantonese and it was generally admitted that the last important obstruction in the path of the advancing Cantonese had been removed.

TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO MEET CANTONESE.

London, March 21.—(Monday.)—(United News.)—One thousand northern troops were rushed from Shanghai Sunday night to meet the Cantonese who were reported to be advancing along the Manchoum 12 miles from the international settlement, according to a dispatch from the Daily Express' Shanghai correspondent.

They are reported to have engaged in rifle fire against an unseen enemy. The Cantonese troops should reach the native quarter of Shanghai not later than Tuesday morning, according to the correspondent.

NO VERDICT SEEN IN FURNITURE CASE

Chicago, March 20.—(AP)—The jury which since Thursday noon has been deadlocked over the case of 129 individuals and firms engaged in the manufacture and sale of furniture appeared no nearer a verdict tonight. The defendants are charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

Federal Judge Carpenter has given no indication on how much longer he will keep the jury out. There has been no indication as to how the jury stands.

Because the jury "trangled so vigorously" this afternoon that the words of its members were heard in the courtroom outside, Judge Carpenter ordered the room cleared and turned over to the jury for its deliberations. He said that in the event the jury reached a verdict during the day the bailiffs were instructed to seal it and hold the verdict for the opening of court tomorrow.

Spectators in the courtroom included a number of the individual defendants and officials of some of the corporations under indictment.

Lovers, Poets And Scholars Thrill Today

Washington, March 20.—(United News.)—One minute before 10 o'clock tomorrow morning North America will greet a welcome visitor from below the equator.

She won't arrive by auto, train, boat nor airplane but she'll be here in colorful rainbows.

Her name is spring. Exactly at 9:59 o'clock the sun will cross the equator and a new season will be ushered into the northern hemisphere, according to the naval observatory here.

ATLANTA KNOWS SPRING IS HERE.

Spring is here—officially. Atlantans have suspected as much for several weeks, but in the light of the weather in store for this section today and Tuesday it's just as well to have authentic confirmation. The United States naval observatory is authority for the statement that Spring is due to cross the equator at exactly 9:59 o'clock this morning and send her benign influence over the whole northern hemisphere immediately.

However, according to the same authority, she comes not in the benevolent mood spring poets have led us to expect, but rather in the guise of a capricious maid. According to the official dope for today Atlanta and the whole north will have "rain and colder—much colder tonight, and Tuesday fair."

Temperature in Atlanta Sunday ranged from a minimum of 62 to a high of 78.

lating the Shantungese in the Shanghai region.

The latter stages of the advance on Shanghai from the south have been almost bloodless, although firing was clearly audible in the outlying sections of the settlements Sunday night.

Thousands of retreating Shantungese passed around Shanghai Sunday and Sunday night.

The village of Lungowa is south of Shanghai, about 12 miles from the city by two roads, one leading southwest from the Quai de la Breeche of the French settlement and the other from the bund of the same settlement by way of Nantau.

The village is known from its seven-story pagoda which has escaped destruction many times amid the ravages of fire and war.

Relatives Seek To Break Will Of Wire King

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Aurora, Ill., March 20.—No relative of the late barbed wire king, Jacob Haish, 94, of DeKalb, was left any material part of the riches he made out of the fencing he invented, and counsel representing 40 disinherited heirs has filed suit at "yacht" to break the will.

It is contended that Mr. Haish was not competent to make a will at the time his was drawn. Undue influence is also charged to his housekeeper, Mrs. Anna Anderson Nelson and a lawyer, Harry McEwen. Mrs. McEwen was a beneficiary under the terms of the will and McEwen a trustee. There is a provision in the will that trustees of the estate may employ all help necessary to carry out its terms and may pay themselves reasonable compensation.

The estate is said to be worth in the neighborhood of a half million. It goes principally to build a Haish memorial library and hospital at DeKalb. Twelve thousand dollars is left to Masonic fraternities as a memorial. Mrs. Nelson is left the Haish mansion at DeKalb and an annual of $10,000. She is expected to get such funds as are necessary to maintain the mansion.

In the will is a paragraph relative to the Haish heirs in which he said: "I have purposely refrained from making any bequests to any of my relatives for the reason that I have from time to time given to them as I desire them to have."

"It develops," Attorney David Peffer, for the heirs, said, "that this old man never gave his nieces and nephews anything. Not a dime. One did recall that the old man's only gift to him was a pair of red topped boots."

CHICAGO SPEAKER EXPECTS TO SEE MOONSHINE BREED

Chicago, March 20.—(AP)—A generation of "moonshine children," suffering for the sins as well as the sins of their parents, is the prophecy of William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education of the Chicago board of education.

"The 'moonshine' parent," he added, "will be the worst type of juvenile offender."

"This child will be the strabismic type of squinting subnormal and mental misfits—the speckled fruit of an unfit parent tree. There will be such an appalling increase that special rooms in our schools will be overcrowded."

"There are many babies of intemperate parents even now that are conceived in drunkenness, born amid homebrew environment and reared by subnormal mothers."

FORD'S ENEMIES CHANGE STRATEGY

BY E. R. HOLLES.

Detroit, March 20.—(United News.) Aaron Sapiro's million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford underwent a complete renovation over the week-end, changing materially the course of the trial opening here Monday morning after a two-day recess.

Attorneys spent the Saturday-Sunday recess getting their war paint on and announcing Sunday night that the billionaire automobile manufacturer probably will not be required to make his scheduled appearance as a witness before Wednesday.

William J. Cameron, editor of the Ford pamphlet, instead of being given a somewhat routine examination, will be closely questioned and Fred L. Black, business manager of the paper, may be examined as extensively as Cameron. These men must be disposed of before Ford becomes a witness.

Two things have led to this alteration in the plan of campaign, first being a determination on the part of Sapiro's counsel to bring the issues closer together so as to force the two sides to quarrel about the same thing, and second, the apparent willingness of Cameron to discuss freely the policies of the Independent and Ford's part in framing them.

Two Issues Stressed.

Sapiro's attorneys charge that thus far the defense has avoided the real issues in the case. These Sapiro maintains are twofold:

The charge allegedly printed in the Dearborn Independent that Sapiro exploited the farmers through formation of farmers' cooperatives for the benefit of himself and a band of Jews.

The charge that Sapiro conspired in the activities of communists, W. W. and other agitators in the rural communities and even fostered the teaching of such theories of economics and government through organizations of young people from the farms.

The Sapiro attorneys charge that neither of these issues has the defense met them and particularly that it has failed to meet them on the question of the activities of a "band of Jews" and has not even mentioned the matter of communism.

Co Force Fight.

"We propose this week to force them to join issues directly with us or there will be fireworks," one of Sapiro's attorneys told the United News. "If they don't we will drive them out of court. We are beginning to fight now, and there will be no quarter given."

Cameron's testimony opened up the opportunity of looking behind the scenes into the mind of Henry Ford through the man considered his spokesman and it will not be overlooked.

"It's going to take probably all day Monday to dispose of Cameron's testimony," attorneys for Sapiro said.

Cameron already has given interesting light on Ford's views on such questions as Soviet Russia, when he said Ford was lenient towards that government.

In that connection a statement of Ford a year ago, in the presence of a United News correspondent was interesting.

Ford had just been told that Russia had bought 10,000 Fordson tractors from him.

"Well, it doesn't make much difference what sort of government they have over there," Ford commented, "when they do things like that, it proves there is some one on the job."

GEORGE W. WELLINGTON FORMER SENATOR, DIES

Cumberland, Md., March 20.—(AP) Former United States Senator George W. Wellington died at his home here today from a complication of heart and kidney diseases brought on by pneumonia. He was 75 years old.

Senator Wellington was at the zenith of his career when he broke with President McKinley during the Spanish-American war. His opposition to the war and his willingness to express his convictions and refusal to compromise with the president ultimately forced him from the senate and from political life.

His lasting break with the republican party came when the treaty of Paris was brought before the senate for ratification. He refused to vote for it unless assured the Philippines would be given independence.

With one vote necessary, he made ratification possible, after he said he personally had been assured independence would be granted. When the islands were retained as colonial possessions he denounced McKinley as having betrayed his word.

He resented his party's attitude so bitterly that in 1900 he deserted it and swung his strength to William Jennings Bryan.

Denied by poverty of his German parents in Cumberland, of anything but the most rudimentary of education he advanced from errand boy in a Cumberland canal store to the dominant position in Maryland republicanism. In 1890 he was made an assistant secretary of the treasury by President Harrison and was elected to congress from Maryland in 1894. The following year he was elected to the senate by the Maryland legislature. Combining conviction and unusual oratorical ability, Senator Wellington was regarded as the most impressive figure Maryland ever had produced.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

EARTHSHOCKS ARE RECORDED AT GEORGETOWN

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—Earth shocks of severe intensity were recorded at Georgetown university today and computed to be centered about 1,800 miles from Washington.

The disturbance began at 11:24 o'clock this morning and continued for an hour, reaching its maximum intensity at 11:57 o'clock. Two hours earlier, another disturbance was recorded but its local location could not be determined.

MEXICO ISSUES OIL STATEMENT

Mexico City, March 20.—(AP)—The department of industry issued a statement today denying reports published in the United States that foreign oil companies, refusing to accept the new Mexican petroleum law, produce 85 per cent of all the oil produced in Mexico, and reiterating its previous declaration that last year the companies which have still not accepted the law produced but 52.7 per cent of the total Mexican output.

"Because of the efforts of certain interests to deny the truth of the facts of the Mexican situation," the statement said, "we must state again that the companies which accepted the law include 25 great oil corporations, among which are the General Petroleum Company of California, the Ohio Oil Company, the Southern Pacific railroad, the Marland interests, the Mexican Seaboard Oil company, the Pierce Oil company and the Texas company."

There are other companies, such as the Transcontinental and El Aguila, which partially accepted by applying for confirmatory concessions on some of their lands, not applying on others.

The statement declares that the oil lands for which various companies have not applied for confirmatory concessions total 672,027 hectares, whereas the lands for which confirmatory concession applications have been made total 10,577,747 hectares. Applications have also been made for preferential concessions totaling 3,784,312 hectares and for ordinary concessions totaling more than 7,000,000 hectares.

The statement says that from 80 to 91 per cent of El Aguila's oil production was obtained in November and December from lands for which confirmatory concessions have been applied, while during the same months the Transcontinental produced from 67 to 72 per cent from lands for which the law has been accepted.

POLICE SEEK PAIR OF WHITE BANDITS

Two pasty faced, lightweight youths are being sought by Atlanta police, following two holdups Sunday night between 2 and 8 o'clock, in which the robbers are said to have obtained a total of $36.

About 7 o'clock Roland Moore, sales manager of the Lake Forest car, was held up and robbed on Columbia avenue and Eleventh street. According to his report to police he was walking along the north side of Eleventh street going east when two youths stepped from behind an automobile parked nearby and ordered him to hold up his hands. They took his wallet containing $15 and, when he asked that the wallet be returned, told him they would make it to him. They then ducked from sight before he could overtake them. Moore said the holdup was made in the full glare of a street light and a light on the front porch of a house on the corner.

From descriptions given police it is believed the same pair of youths held up and robbed H. C. Barwick, 1422 Peachtree street, of $27 and a gold watch about 8 o'clock, at Spring and Peachtree streets.

The bandits who perpetrated the holdups were described both by Moore and Barwick and police said the descriptions dovetailed exactly.

One of 19 and 25. One wore a gray suit and cap, weighed about 110 eight inches tall. Both robbers were pounds and was about five feet and six inches tall. Both were wearing a R. Heard and A. C. Sinyard.

Scotch Funmaker Tells Formula To Make Laughs

"Laugh and the world laughs with you" is an old but true slogan in the show, as well as the every-day world, as exemplified by Donald Kingsbury.

DONALD KINGSBURY.

funmaker de luxe and philosopher, whose act in front of the "Big House" on the Rubin and Cherry Shows' midway on the Highland avenue show grounds this week, of which Kingsbury is manager, causes many a hearty guffaw. Kingsbury, a canny Scot, has a wonderful sense of humor as evinced by his thrifty habit of making every laugh count, thus utilizing his more famous countryman, Sir Harry Lauder. Ask the humorous Kingsbury his secret of success.

"It's a gift," says he, "a rare distinction, this art of making the public laugh. I'm a clown and am glad to admit it, but thinking of the funny things I see while amusing the public! I can give a 'kick' out of it myself. See for yourself how difficult a task this is and then ask yourself if you envy my job. When you are at a party try and make people believe you are clever. Say smart things. The harder you try the more you will bore people. I know this from actual experience."

"Nature has been kind to me in one way. She has given me a funny face. But it's all mine, and I'm thankful for it because it brings me a fat salary and plenty of good things in life. I'm supposed, in my role, to be a simple 'kick' from the 'sticks' becoming befuddled in the devious passage of the crystal mazes of the 'Bughouse' and the folks out front watch me and laugh till their sides ache. I'm just as happy as they are, because I realize I've done something to make the world a better place to live in—to laugh and forget one's troubles. Behind the clown's face, his silly grin and his vacuous expression, I watch closely when I know that I am making somebody forget sorrow. I'm driving dull care away and chasing the grouchy germ of ill-doing something for humanity."

And there are many more entertainers with the Rubin and Cherry Shows and his vacuous expression, I watch closely when I know that I am making somebody forget sorrow. I'm driving dull care away and chasing the grouchy germ of ill-doing something for humanity."

SIGHTSEERS THROG NEVADA GOLD FIELDS

Tonopah, Nev., March 20.—(AP)—Though Nevada's newest strip of gold seekers, today continued to draw thousands of pilgrims, Sabbath stragglers, all anxious to obtain claims in the bonanza area. However, they found the gold was staked and re-staked far past the sections of possible pay dirt.

For the most part, the new-comers today were sightseers who looked over a wide expanse of barren country inhabited by small groups of seasonal miners, and prospectors marking time for development of fortune, established in many cases by driving claim pegs under the light of the moon.

In Tonopah, experienced mining engineers and owners of claims in the Weepah area contented themselves by meeting in small groups to discuss impending deals and rumors. The most general speculation seemed to be as to when operations would begin, for, while the new gold field has given ample evidence of pay dirt, no intensive mining operation has yet started.

As in Weepah, sightseers swarmed into Tonopah by automobile, stage and railroad, and so outnumbered the resident population remaining here on Sunday that townspeople found themselves among strangers.

PROHIS IN SOUTH OPPOSE AL SMITH, HEFLIN ASSERTS

Raleigh, N. C., March 20.—(AP)—Prohibitionists of the south are going to stand on the Mason and Dixon line and tell Alfred E. Smith "to keep out," Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, of Alabama, declared in an address here today.

Speaking before the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League the Alabama senator declared that Smith and his followers had started their presidential campaign in the south through North Carolina and he asserted that "North Carolina is not for sale to the wet forces of the nation."

"We started late in our campaign against Smith," the speaker said, "but we are going to make up for lost time between now and spring. A united Christian force is going to rise up and say to Smith, 'You'll never make it.'"

TWO MEN KILLED IN FLORIDA FIGHT

Mayo, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—Tragedy which yesterday stalked down the Lafayette county Suwannee river valley left in its wake two men dead, another in a very critical condition, a badly painfully wounded and a woman in jail.

The dead: Will Brock, 55-year-old grandfather, raised for the state in cattle tick eradication work.

Barry Allen, seriously wounded in a shooting affray with the sheriff's posse and subsequently thrown into the Suwannee river by a mob of unmasked men who took him from deputized officers rushing him to Lake City. His body had not been recovered tonight, although parties had been searching for it all day.

The wounded: Frank Murray, 25-year-old Mayo town constable and Lafayette county deputy, in a serious condition at Lake City with buckshot wounds in the abdomen.

The two dead Allen boys, also in the hospital at Lake City, with a mangled arm from a shotgun charge. Mrs. Allen, who was arrested as an accomplice, was spirited away to the Suwannee county jail at Live Oak late last night.

Barrenging himself and family, which also included a 12-year-old girl, within his home, a three-room, one-story house on the edge of Mayo, Allen, after fatally wounding Brock, defied a sheriff's posse of some hundred persons for six hours of intermittent firing, during which the deputy fell wounded, and was only routed after the house had been twice set on fire with small charges of dynamite thrown near it by the authorities, and riddled with bullets.

The recent mysterious death of an 18-year-old daughter of Allen caused the circulation of petition here asking that the Allen children be taken to a state institution at Jacksonville. Papers for such action were then signed by County Judge H. N. Padgett and it was in the attempt to serve these papers and a warrant charging Allen with having shot at Newton Williams the day before following an argument said also to have centered about the children, that the trouble began.
